Named after a fossil discovered in the estate's tuffeau cellar, this cuvée comes from 50-year-old vines rooted in clay and silex soils. Aged in oak barrels with 12 months on lees, it shows citrus, pear, and peach aromas with subtle vanilla. Generous yet fresh, it finishes with remarkable balance and length.

Tasting Notes:

Delicate notes of citrus, pear and peach with hints of vanilla. On the palate, it is generous and rounded with a lively acidity. The finish gradually gains weight and length, offering a harmonious balance of richness, freshness and elegance.
