Named after a fossil discovered in the estate's tuffeau cellar, this cuvée comes from 50-year-old vines rooted in clay and silex soils. Aged in oak barrels with 12 months on lees, it shows citrus, pear, and peach aromas with subtle vanilla. Generous yet fresh, it finishes with remarkable balance and length.

Tasting Notes:

Delicate notes of citrus, pear and peach with hints of vanilla. On the palate, it is generous and rounded with a lively acidity. The finish gradually gains weight and length, offering a harmonious balance of richness, freshness and elegance.

FAMILY WINE MERCHANTS SINCE 1906

Vinification Produced from the estate's oldest vines, around 50 years old, grown on clay and silex soils, the wine is aged in a combination of 228 litre and 400 litre barrels, of which 20% are new, followed by 12 months on fine lees.
