Today, the château run by Bernard Magrez, who continues to invest in both traditional and cutting-edge techniques. The 2024 Pape Clément Blanc is full-bodied, bold, and finely structured.

Tasting Notes:

The 2024 Pape Clément Blanc is full-bodied, bold, and finely structured. Notes of grass, peach, and lime citrus are layered with buttery oak, cereal tones, and a touch of vanilla. Bright acidity and firm minerality bring tension and balance to the wine's generous weight. The finish is long, poised, and classic, refined and powerful in equal measure.

Specification
Vinification	The grapes are whole-bunch pressed in modern Vaslin presses after cold maceration, then gravity-fed into a mix of oak vats, concrete eggs, steel tanks, and barrels for fermentation. The wine spends time on fine lees for added texture and is aged for 12 months in a combination of 50% oak barrels, of which one third is new, along with foudres, concrete, and stainless steel.
