HOUSE OF TOWNEND

FAMILY WINE MERCHANTS SINCE 1906

Specification
Vinification	Hand harvesting. Destemming takes place using modern technology. Fermentation in conical vats, barrels and open barriques using the "vinificazione integrale" technique. After a long maceration on the skins, the wine is poured directly into the Fine grained French oak barrels where malolactic fermentation takes place. It is matured "on the lees" in the barrels for 18 months prior to bottling. After bottling, it is aged for a further 6 months at lease before being released for sale.

Producer Overview	The Chioccioli Estate has its own winery in Gaiole in Chianti and its vineyards are located in two areas with the most suitable terroir in the Chianti Classico area: Gaiole in Chianti and Quercegrossa. The two owners Niccolo and Enrico Chioccioli Altadonna, work directly in the vineyards where the whole operation is carried out by hand from pruning and harvest, through to the final wine making. Vineyard management is key and a great deal of effort is made to ensure that they achieve the best polyphenolic ripening possible of the grapes. Attention to detail is paramount for the winery beginning with the double sorting of grapes, the vinification technique, the use of the finest grained French oak barrels and the highest standard of vinification. Read more online
