Description:

Made from 100% Tempranillo grapes, nurtured according to the strictest organic agriculture: they are grown on specific plots of land, fertilised only with decomposed plant material; ground cover plants and vegetables are planted to provide the soil with more nitrogen; and, pheromones are used to keep pests at bay. To add more complexity to the winemaking process, the vines are also cultivated using biodynamic techniques, all viticulture tasks follow the phases of the moon and the position of the planets, hence the name "Entre Lunas" which means "Between Moons".

Tasting Notes:

A deep picota cherry red colour with a violet edge. It is clear and bright. On the nose it shows a broad spectrum of aromas, combining typical aromas of red and black fruits (blackberry, raspberry), liquorice and mineral notes along with pleasant hints of its time spent in wood, amongst which the spicy notes stand out together with a fine smokiness in the background. It is full bodied, structured and meaty on the palate with a perfect balance of acidity and alcohol and a long, persistent finish with soft tannins reminiscent of chocolate and toffee.
