""This wine deserves to be your new fridge-door white – snap it up when you see it" - Victoria Moore, The Telegraph "Godello is a white Iberian grape that's having a moment. With its tantalising aromatics, such as quince and orange blossom, a rounded (but not heavy) feel, and a burst of limy freshness, it's an excellent white for your summer fridge-door arsenal. The very best one I've tasted recently is the glitteringly refreshing Vinos de Altura Gancedo Godello 2024, Bierzo, Spain (13%) – a real joy. Bright and refreshing, this is very pure and lively godello from Bierzo that tastes of lime blossom and citrus with a hint of fresh apricot." Victoria Moore, The Telegraph, www.telegraph.co.uk, 27th June 2025.

Tasting Notes:

Plenty of ripe yellow and orchard fruit on the nose with lovely sweet apple and pear fruit on the palate with an elegant, mineral note on the long refreshing finish.

However in 2017, after investment from José Cereijo and Luis Lopez, it really took off. José, a qualified mine engineer who had worked all over the world before returning to his native Bierzo, is today the driving force of the estate. The investment included buying an entire valley in order to farm the whole estate organically. Today they have 80 ha, about 60 of which are currently in production and of these, 20 ha are young vines whose grapes are sold elsewhere. There are over 60 different plots of 60 to 100 year old vines, all grown between 500 and 650 metres above sea level on loamy soils with quartz sand. Read more online
