Specification

Vinification	Produced from vine's aged 40 - 60 years. The soil composition is predominantly schist. Schist is resistant to weathering, retains heat well and has good drainage. In search of water, the vines roots descend into schist's rocky layers, allowing the vine roots to penetrate the cracks down as far as seven or eight meters deep. On the way, the roots absorb lots of minerals, which is known to give low yields of small grapes with thick skins and a high concentration of flavour, colour, acidity and tannins. Grapes are harvested by hand before temperature controlled fermentation halted by the addition of grape brandy.

Press Comments	Henry Jeffreys, Port special 2025: "Special wood-aged port used to add depth and complexity to the 20 year old tawny. Only one barrel has been bottled. Orange peel, very fine, precise and intense, laser-like focus in flavour and massive intensity. Almonds on the finish. Really superb."
