The Talisman range of wines comes from this highly regarded producer, and, as well as Bull's Blood, we also stock a Dry Furmint and Grüner Veltliner under the same label.

Food Matches A sophisticated choice for an aperitif and the perfect accompaniment to spicy Asian food and delicate sashimi. Grüner Veltliner had a reputation for being a particularly food-friendly wine.

Press Comments Brian Elliott, Daily Record, April 2019: This is a marriage between a well-known Hungarian sparkling wine producer (Törley) and a grape variety we usually associate with Austria. In fact, Gruner (under its local name) has a long, successful history in Hungary and versions from there are often less expensive than those from Austria. This delightful example has rounded apple and melon fruit with crisp lemon acidity, appealing freshness and a flinty mineral background.
